

The world leader in automating, digitising, and changing how people bank and shop, Diebold Nixdorf, will establish a manufacturing facility in India.

From its manufacturing plant in Bangalore, the company has begun producing its highly technologically advanced DN Series TM cash dispensing and cash recycling equipment.

This strengthens the business' dedication to "Make in India," supporting the government's goal of turning India into a global manufacturing hub.

Together with its contract manufacturing partner in India, NASH Industries, the dedicated unit has been established. The production facility, which is 27000 square feet in size, has an internal capability to produce more than 18000 machines annually.
