

RKV Spirits Pvt Ltd, a leading player in the spirits industry, is set to establish a state-of-the-art grain-based distillery and ethanol manufacturing unit in Village Beed Plassi, Nalagarh, Solan, Himachal Pradesh. This strategic move aims to expand production capacities and meet the growing demand for alcoholic beverages and related products.

The project will feature the manufacturing of Distillers Dried Grains with Solubles (DDGS), carbon dioxide (CO₂), power generation, extra neutral alcohol, ethanol, beer, and Indian Made Foreign Liquor (IMFL) bottling. These diverse products cater to various markets and consumer preferences.

With an estimated investment of approximately Rs. 1497.85 million, RKV Spirits is committed to creating a cutting-edge infrastructure, employing advanced equipment, and skilled manpower to ensure efficient and high-quality manufacturing operations.

Having obtained consent from the state pollution control authorities, RKV Spirits demonstrates compliance with environmental regulations and sustainable practices, enabling a seamless establishment of the project.
